

Name _____ Date _____

Go Back In Time

Use the information in the timeline to match each cause with its effect.
Draw an arrow between each pair.

Causes	Effects
Stories about Mexico's wealth of gold, silver and jewels spread among the Spanish.	71 years of uninterrupted rule by the Institutional Revolutionary Party ends.
The U.S. wins the Mexican-American War.	Mexico's economy improves.
Mexican citizens rebel against an oppressive government.	Spanish military leader Hernando Cortes and his conquistadors arrive and conquer Mexico.
North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) takes effect and allows the U.S, Canada and Mexico to trade goods without paying taxes.	Basic rights are established for workers and land is distributed to peasants.
Vicente Fox gets elected and begins his term as President of Mexico.	Mexico's northern territories, now known as Texas, California, New Mexico and Arizona, become part of the United States.